Bits & Pieces

June is here with all the last minute flurry of end of the school year performances, programs and graduations. It always seems like so much is crammed into too short a time, memories that last a lifetime.

FROM LAST MONTH

Last month's silent auction netted $ 246.10, proving that one woman's trash is another's treasure.

Final tallies on the show are still coming in. The slides renewed the memories of the show which will last a long time. Many interesting results of the show are beginning to emerge. One being the influx of new members who have joined in the last month. Another result is the recognition of quilting as an art form as expressed in the thank you letters from Dennis Power, director of the museum included in this newsletter.

JUNE MEETING

Nancy Whalen McKinney will give a lecture and slide show on "Wearable Art".

About Nancy, She has been quilting for 13 years and "sewn all of my life." She has been teaching for 8 years wearable art, crazy quilts and Seminole patchwork in workshops & lectures to numerous groups in California and Michigan as well as the LA Natural History Museum. She belongs to five quilt guilds.

WORKSHOPS

"Tucks & Weaves" by Nancy Whalen-McKinney on Thursday, June 13th, 9:00 - 3:30 at the Goleta Community Center, $25 for members. This workshop will show the student how to manipulate fabric into pleats, tucks and weaves for textural surface effects which can be used to start a clothing piece such as a jacket or vest or as a working technique sampler. You need to sign-up with Jan Inouye.

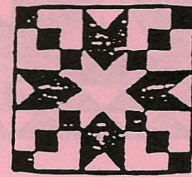

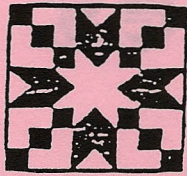

July Workshop: Katie Pasquini workshop will be the ISOMETRIC class. Sign-ups will be at our June & July meetings. This will be our first Saturday work scheduled for July 13th at the Goleta Community Center.

Please sign up at the meetings or call Jan Inouye (962-3498).

DISPLAY YOUR WARES

July gives us an opportunity to "go public" with two great events - 4th of July at the Stowe House and the Brinkerhoff Street Quilt Show, July 6th & 7th (we will do Saturday only).

At Stowe House we may sell our work with no sales limits this year. But because of the increase in the charge of the space, members selling will be charged 10% of their sales.

Brinkerhoff will once again come alive with quilts this July 6th & 7th. Even doing one day we will need lots of help to "woman" the table, signing up new members, selling "opportunities, quilting at these two events. Sign-up sheets will be at the meeting or you may call Jane Manasse (687-0301)

JULY MEETING

Don't miss Katie Pasquini as our speaker!

AND INTRODUCING

Michelle Lyon has graciously agreed to take over the librarian position.

WELCOME, WELCOME, WELCOME

to all the new members joining the guild!

SANTA BARBARA MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY

May 6, 1991

Coastal Quilters Guild
P.O. Box 6341
Santa Barbara, CA 93160

Dear Members:

This is to acknowledge with deepest thanks the superb effort by all of the members of the Coastal Quilters Guild in their professional execution of "Natural Impressions." The show impressed everyone who visited--especially those not familiar with quilt-making. The skill, history and beauty of this craft is awe-inspiring.

While the exhibit was billed as a benefit in celebration of the Museum of Natural History's 75th anniversary, you went far beyond that. The show was also a noble celebration of antique quilts and the state of the art in contemporary quilt-making. We were proud to be associated with it.

The high point for many of us was seeing and hearing the reaction of the public to our own quilt "Museum Impressions." Everything the museum does and stands for was captured in such a creative way! I suspect we will continue to catch a different perspective every time we view it. And, I'm delighted to report that it will go on display--in Fleischmann Auditorium where our quilt will continue to delight audiences for years to come.

I know many people worked long and hard to make "Natural Impressions" and "Museum Impressions" a success. I hope you will forgive me if I give special praise to two. Thank you, Jan, for project coordination, jury coordination, for arranging invitational quilts and for being such an advocate for quilting during the exhibition. And thank you, Norah, for project coordination, publicity, graphics and being such an advocate for the museum during the exhibition. And to

Dear Members:

At the May meeting of the Board of Trustees, I had an opportunity to report the great success of the Quilt Show, Natural Impressions.

A resolution was passed by acclamation to express thanks and gratitude to the Coastal Quilters Guild and Museum League for an outstanding exhibit and a great effort demonstrated by your many dedicated members.

Again, my personal thanks for a job well done.

Sincerely,

COASTAL QUILTER MEMBERS GO TO PADUCAH!

Eight of us from the Straight and Narrow satellite group made plans in October 1990 to join thousands of other quilters in "Quilt City, U.S.A." - Paducah, Kentucky, April 24-28, 1991. In order to catch an early A.M. flight from LAX on Tues., April 23, we took the Airbus to the airport area on Monday afternoon. Our first flight on American to Nashville landed us there amid the greenest bluegrass country surroundings we had not imagined before. Because TVA developed so much water in that area, besides green foliage everywhere, they have automatic flushing toilets (every thirty seconds) in the airport rest rooms. Such a shock to us Santa Barbarans!

It was our good fortune to have reservations at the Kentucky Dam Village State Park, about 20 miles east of Paducah. This necessitated renting two passenger cars for us and our luggage. Our "executive cottage" was more than adequate - 3 bedrooms, each with 1 double bed + 1 twin bed, 2 baths, large living/dining room and large kitchen, and veranda overlooking the lake inundated each morning by 6 AM with fishermen and their boats.

Early on, all of us had enrolled in various classes, lectures etc., given by Helen Kelley, Doreen Speckmann, Nancy Pearson, Jeannette Muir and many others. Our early morning ride into Paducah each morning was one of the very nicest events - everything was green right up to the edge of the wide freeway.

One of our first stops was to the Hancock fabric store advertised in QNM every month. It is indeed huge with everything imaginable for quilters to buy for far less than California prices. Some of us even had to buy extra duffel bags in which to bring home all our goodies.

The townspeople of Paducah extended the famous Southern hospitality with smiles all the time, and friendly gestures of help. Assigned red jacketed Ambassadors were on hand everywhere. One evening going back to KDVSP when we stopped to consult our map with our dome light on, we noticed a car backing up toward us. The Ambassador asked if we were lost; when we said "Yes," he said, "Just follow me, and I'll head you in the right direction." Such courtesy!

The Methodist church served a wonderful dinner to us; their youth project for the week. The very old Episcopalian church ladies presented a great lunch with quilts hung all around their social hall. This church roof even had a quilt design! Zetta had recommended a few good restaurants: The Cracker Barrel and RubyTuesday's in the Kentucky Oaks Mall near the Rotary Club's special show of many old quilts. We discovered a perfectly charming upstairs lunch and dinner place, "Lillie Langtry's" where we also were entertained with musical show tunes AND excellent entrees at $4.95! This was on Broadway in the oldtown

One of our outstanding experiences was the grand opening of the American Quilter's Association Museum in its new building. The AQA is hoping to attract the year round quilter with workshops, educational seminars and their library. Their prize winning quilt displays are wonderful beyond words. A book showing them is now available.

We were just a little tardy for the peak of the dogwood blooms, but we saw some gorgeous white and pink trees in blossom, as well as wonderful iris.

Our classes and quilt displays as well as the vendors were in the Executive Inn, the only big hotel in town. It is right on the Tennessee River where it empties into the Ohio River. In 1937 the rivers rose beyond flood stage causing a disaster in Paducah, and all residents were evacuated. The Red Cross helped them recover with the expenditure of $1½ million.

The Ninth Street House, which we had read about in the May Victoria magazine with glowing remarks, was somewhat of a disappointment, but we had Sunday lunch there, followed by a tour of historic homes.

We caught the little American Eagle long before dawn in Paducah, and returned to Santa Barbara as Happy Campers all:
