Volume 29, No.1

July 2017

Members' Picnic: A Chance to Show your Colors!

The theme for this year's Annual Guild Potluck Picnic is Americana.
Please wear Red, White and Blue!

The Picnic Dinner starts at 5:30pm on Thursday, July 13, 2017 at St. Andrews Church
We are welcoming the 27 new members that joined from July 2016 through June 2017. There will be a raffle for the new members in attendance. One lucky winner will win one workshop. A nice way to meet more people!

Please bring your Potluck Dish as follows:

Last names A-H are Potluck SALADS (remember dressing), Green, Fresh fruit, Spinach, etc....

Last names I-Z are Potluck MAIN dishes (don't forget your serving utensils)

Desserts will be provided.

Mark all dishes and serving utensils with your name on them.
Thank you,

Debbi Haeberle

President's Message

The time has come said the tortoise to the hare to talk of cabbages and kings. No one has come forward to chair Community Quilts. So, for the next year, I will run the program. Sue Kadner and Carol Fay have graciously volunteered to spearhead the cradle kits due in November. We have one other request: the Jewish league would like 20 lap quilts for December. These will be the only projects for the next 5 months.

Should you have other organizations that you would like to continue to support, I--with the help of friends--will continue to collect those quilts, and Betty Kelley will deliver them to your special request organization (e.g., Visiting Nurse and Hospice, Teddy Bear Cancer Center, etc.)

All I ask from you is that you:

- 1) make sure your quilt has a guild label,
- 2) sign in the number of quilts, and
- 3) attach a note to quilts for special requests.

We are starting a new year and beginning it with a party. So, let's celebrate our friendship, 30 years as a guild and the up and coming quilt show. The party promises to be fun, with amazing entertainment and lots of surprise give-aways.

Did you know?

Quilt - According to dictionary.com the word Quilt dates back to 1250 or so. The term in Middle English was quilt, based on old French word cuilt derived from the Latin word culcita for mattress.

Imagine that these items were to sleep ON and were several layers of fabric joined together. Language and sleep habits are dynamic and now we have our beloved quilts.

Community Quilts: Help Make Cradle Quilts!

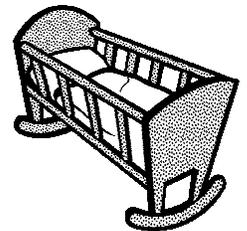

One thing our members really enjoy producing are cradle quilts and bedding sets, many from kits of orphan blocks and “bits and pieces.” The cradle bedding sets go with wooden cradles made by the wood shop folks at SBCC and are donated to the Unity Shoppe to be used as holiday gifts for low-income children. Last year we delivered 190 cradle quilts with matching bedding, well over the target of 174.

This year, despite the lack of a chair for the Community Quilts Committee, we have decided to move forward to fulfill our commitment for this project and are challenging each member to make at least one kit -- and we bet you can't just make one! The Doll Cradle Bedding Pattern can be found on the left side of the Community tab on the Guild's website, coastalquilters.org.

We hope to have some kits for check out at the July meeting and plans are progressing to have a cradle kit sew day in October as we have a November 1 deadline to deliver.

If you have questions, please contact Carol Fay, carol@carolfayquilts.com or Sue Kadner, sgkadner@yahoo.com

Upcoming Speakers

The July party is always such fun. We hope to see you there. Here is a peek into the future.

We have a great line-up of speakers planned for the rest of the year. Right now we are planning for the August meeting with Natalie Barnes of Beyond the Reef. You might know her. She is one of our regular vendors at our Harvest of Colors Quilt Show! She is also a teacher at the Sisters Outdoor Quilt Show and does beautiful work. She is a designer for Windham Fabrics and has a line of her own patterns. She is going to teach a class called String Piecing Boot Camp. She will work with free form and foundation piecing and then take a look at what can be made with these string pieced elements.

In September Karen Gloegler from Las Vegas will be with us. She is known, in part, for her Jane Austen Quilts based on Austen's novels.

October is still a work in progress. The November meeting brings Dora Cary from Orange Dot Quilts in Paso Robles. Dora is a Romanian-born American engineer and a Modern Quilter.

Then we have the December holiday party! What a fun Fall to look forward to enjoying.

For questions about workshops, please contact Francine Smith, francinesspot@cox.net.

Library News: Book Sale at the Picnic

This month is the July Guild Book Sale (Cash Only). Please take some time to look over our selection. We, the Knotty Threads, want to sell many books, but are only taking cash, so please have some smaller denominations with you to help us make change.

The Lending Library won't be available this month, but book returns and donations are always welcome. Books are loaned out for one month. Please remember to bring due and overdue books so we can keep the Lending Library up to date and available to all.

As a new feature, a Library Book Bag will be offered for sale each month. I use a book bag myself when going to the public library and find it very handy. I'll be making Library Book Bags from UFOs and Treasure Table finds. You may recognize something you left off there in an upcoming book bag. I think an opportunity to purchase a book bag is a fun way to raise money for new library books. The book bags will be sold by silent auction which will have a BUY NOW option if you are really set on winning it.

I'm looking forward to seeing you at the July Picnic.

Carol Hart, Librarian

(and the Knotty Threads)

Special Note from Kathy, Pam and Michelle:

This month we are handing our Library duties over to Carol Hart and the Knotty Threads. It has been a fun experience for us meeting members of Quilt Guild, accepting your very generous donations and helping raise money for the guild.

Block of the Month News

Kika Hutchings won 27 Star of Hope Blocks at the June guild meeting.

July's Block of the Month: Roman Square begins our new year of Block of the Month (July-June). See Roman Square pattern on the CQG website. Be one of the quilters that completes all of the Block of the Month blocks - at least one each month and you will win a prize! . Also the quilter that completes the most blocks in the year will also be awarded a prize. Start stitching now and you might be a lucky winner!

Prizes for this ending year will be awarded at the July Picnic guild meeting. If you've made all of the blocks this year, then you might want to be present!

Marty Frolli and Rochelle Schneider, Block of the Month Co-chairs

America's Quilting History—The Myth of Colonial Quilting is Born

Americans tend to idealize the life of early colonists but in truth it was a hard and unforgiving life. Quilting for these colonial women was a rare pastime.

By about 1840 the textile industry had grown to the point that fabric was readily available to most families. Only then did quilting become a common way for American women to express their creativity. Interestingly it was after quilting became a widespread activity that somehow the idea that quilting was common in colonial times became a romanticized myth. In truth, "Quilts of any kind were rare in New England in the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries, and it is unlikely that New England women were making quilts in any number until at least the 1750s."

This notion of colonial quilt making was reinforced in the 1920s and 30s. During that time there was a revival of interest in everything colonial including furniture design and an idealized vision of colonial quilting. Manufacturers and magazines took advantage of this fad by promoting as "Colonial Quilts" quilts that were actually made in the mid nineteenth-century.

Believe it or not, this myth is still ingrained in the minds of many Americans today. Hopefully writers and teachers are gradually becoming aware of this inaccurate view of American colonial women. The history of the lives of these women is no less intriguing just because most of them didn't make quilts.
