MARCH

COASTAL QUILTERS MEETING MINUTES

MARCH 14, 1990

Carol Boyce opened the meeting in the Goleta Library at 7:30 p.m. There were about 80 people present.

Carol welcomed everyone and made some announcements:

- She reminded everyone to pick up their newsletters and rosters.
- The UCSB quilt show will continue until March 17 and is definitely worth seeing.
- There are fliers available explaining our two ongoing challenges: our natural history project and the Mary Ellen Hopkins log cabins.
- Also still available are the SCCQG quilt shop guides for $5.
- Maggie Godwin's Christmas dress has been selected by AQS for their fashion show at Paducah in April. Maggie will go there and model the dress herself. YEA MAGGIE!!!
- This year's first raffle quilt is progressing well and will be ready for the Stow House July Fourth. Next month we will get a preview of the quilt as well as pictures and tickets to sell.
- The guild still needs help with various activities as well as for the Museum show.

Committees made their announcements:

- Mary Bursek introduced and welcomed the evening's guests and new members.
- Colby Kline named and thanked all who brought goodies tonight.
- We were reminded of the April 1 deadline on the museum quilt block drawing contest. Donations from the banks were announced. Dates for this juried show are May 3, 4, and 5.
- Marge Hall spoke of the Women's Shelter project, reminding us that the quilts are due in July and will be presented at the August meeting. She says that they also can make use of rummage sale items to distribute to families in need or to sell in their thrift store. She brought fabric again for those who'd like to use it in their project.
- Harriet Berk, who is now the self-proclaimed "Queen of the Silent Auction", reported that our auction brought in $273, enough money for half a speaker. She thanked everyone for their donations and said that she'll be collecting things all the time for future fundraisers.
- Marty Frolli read excerpts from last month's guild survey.
- Carol Ludwick raffled off a number of door prizes; among the winners were Jan Inouye, Marcella Vandemaele, Dorothy Probert, and Carol Ludwick.

Maggie Godwin conducted the Block-of-the-Month raffle, for which we had a great turn-out of Irish Chains - Colby Kline was the lucky winner. Maggie then presented next month's block, a color wheel, with a mini-lecture on what a color wheel is.

Jan Inouye told us of our evening's program, which was a viewing of the Hoffman Challenge quilts. She also told us to each bring a six-inch square of a fabric we might use in our Challenges to the April meeting - these will be used by Doris Floyd in her lecture on charm quilts, our April 11 program.
